The 7th edition of the race weekend starts on July 29, 2022. 2022 will bring an optimized route and start for the supreme discipline GGUT 110 and the goal for all distances will move to the center of Kaprun on the Salzburger Platz. The extension of the Weisse Gletscherwelt Trail (GWT) was very well received, as was the postponement of this race to Friday. The GWT (37 km, 1,500 m ascent) therefore marks the start of the race weekend in 2022: „The wonderful route of the Weisse Gletscherwelt Trail (GWT) leads the runners through a breath-taking mountain landscape with a view of glaciers and past clear reservoirs,“ explains Hubert Resch , Organizer of the Grossglockner ULTRA-TRAIL. „That’s why this track deserves its own racing day.“

On the three other routes, the Grossglockner ULTRA-TRAIL (110 km, 6,500 altitude difference), the Osttirol Trail (84 km, 5,000 altitude altitude) and the Grossglockner Trail (57 km, 3,500 altitude difference), top and amateur runners can go to their limits again next year. The supreme discipline of the GGUT with 110 km is one of the most scenic ultra-trails and is a unique adventure on the rugged mountain ranges of the Eastern Alps.

Mountain endurance specialist DYNAFIT has been a main sponsor since the first edition of the GGUT. „We are very pleased to be able to support one of the most attractive trail running competitions in the Alps as a partner and sponsor again in 2022 and look forward to the next edition with an international field of professional starters“, says Michael Költringer, Marketing Manager at DYNAFIT.

„We would like to make the GGUT a meeting of international top athletes in 2022 as well and expect around 2,000 runners from more than 40 nations,“ say Resch and Költringer in unison. „The competition weekend should again be an unforgettable experience and a family trail weekend for everyone.“

Registration is open from December 2 under www.ultratrail.at.
